The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Hoover—An Honorable Rock

There are valid reasons why many of us respect and admire J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, United States Department of Justice.

A major reason is that he is a constant in the changing measurement of the threat of communism as the red cult infiltrates more elements of American existence.

His posture is important because the infiltration has been so deep, yet so subtle, that a great many naive Americans, otherwise patriotic, are ready to embrace the red philosophy—a philosophy, incidentally, which is designed to bring all the people of the world under its totalitarian control.

As people move to the left, inch by inch, J. Edgar Hoover stands firm, giving a basis for measurement, somewhat as the pound weight in the Bureau of Standards does—a weight against which all American weights are tested.

There is another reason for my personal admiration. Every piece of correspondence he mails to me—and to other American newsmen, is addressed "Honorable". This includes the addressing of the FBI monthly Law Enforcement Bulletin which reviews some of the workaday duties of the Department.

To "Honorable Max Goodwin" comes each communication from the FBI. It gives a touch of importance that newsmen are not otherwise often accorded.

Being pragmatic, most newsmen are aware that the honorable appellation, given even by Mr. Hoover, often gives honor where none is deserved.

It reminds us of the local judge who tells of a long-time recipient of welfare who appeared before him on a drunk charge. He gave his name as "General" John Doe. The judge, seeking a reason to lighten the sentence asked how he got the title of "general." "What does it mean?" he asked.

The now sober defendant knew the answer. He said "It's just like the 'honorable' in front of your name. It don't mean nothing."

Be that as it may, during this week when the nation is commemorating the natal date of Abraham Lincoln, and I am offering a minor eulogy on J. Edgar Hoover, it is fitting that the two persons be tied together in this manner.

In the current issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin is this quote from Abraham Lincoln: "The shepherd drives the wolf from the sheep's throat, for which the sheep thanks the shepherd as his liberator, while the wolf denounces him for the same act as the destroyer of his liberty."

J. Edgar Hoover couldn't say it better—but he says it more often.

Double Sessions Seen For Monte Vista Next Year

Due to expected increases in enrollment and the doubtful opening of the Grossmont Union High School District's ninth high school, all districts schools will operate on extended day schedules next year, the district Governing Board decided last week.

At a meeting of the board, assistant superintendent for educational services John C. Barrons reported to the board that Monte Vista, which has been operating on the extended day schedule for the past couple of years, will be moved to double sessions, making the Spring Valley school the third district school to move to the split session program.

Mt. Miguel has been on double sessions for the past few years, as has Santana. Santana will now go to an extended double session program, with junior and senior students attending in the mornings and freshmen and sophomores attending in the afternoon.

Mt. Miguel and Monte Vista will instruct sophomores, juniors and seniors in the mornings and freshmen in the afternoons. Additionally, Helix, Granite Hills and El Cajon Valley will run an extended day schedule which will include late afternoon and evening classes, fusing some classes with adult school courses offered at night.

Grossmont and El Capitan will go on regular split sessions, calling for seven or eight scheduled classes instead of the usual six, with certain students beginning the school day early and leaving early.

Superintendent Byron L. Netzley Submits Resignation To Trustees

Netzley To Retire After Thirty Years Of Service

After 30 years of service to the Lemon Grove School District and the community, Superintendent Byron L. Netzley announced Monday night that he will step down from the post as of July 28.

The announcement came after a lengthy executive session at the regular board of trustees meeting. Netzley began his career with the local district in 1942 as supervising principal when the district was still serving one school.

Netzley told those in attendance at the meeting that during his first year with the district, the operation budget was set at $49,851, and the school was expected to serve 300 students, utilizing ten teachers. He added that by the time the school year got underway, 420 students showed up for classes, and 13 teachers were needed.

Presently, 166 teachers are employed in the district's eight schools, serving about 4,000 students. The budget has soared to nearly $4 million, while Netzley's salary has increased from $2,200 in 1942 to over ten times that amount presently.

Netzley, in announcing his retirement to the board, indicated three reasons for his resignation. He said that 30 years in long enough to lead the district and that he has been looking forward to his retirement for the past few years. The third reason, which the trustees were reluctant to accept, was that changes in administration are coming about that will require new leadership and "younger blood".

Netzley attributed the success he has had as superintendent to the "fine board" and said that he has been fortunate to serve with "the best school board around". He indicated that although he submitted his resignation with some reluctance, he felt that he was leaving the district in capable hands.

Trustees set a date of February 23 for a special meeting to decide how Netzley's successor should be selected, indicating that the meeting will be in executive session.

Netzley said that it was too premature to speculate on who will be the new superintendent, as the board has not reached a position to be able to accept application for the post.

Netzley, who lives with his wife, Helen, at 2324 Golden ave., Lemon Grove, said that problems the district will face in the future will be in the area of human relations and getting community involvement with the district so that the community can help formulate aims and objectives of its schools.

In other action at Monday's board meeting, trustees approved minor changes in the

Action Due On Imperial-80

Action at last is expected on the Imperial-80 project at a hearing before the San Diego City Council this morning at 10 a.m.

The action on the fate of the Pacific Bay Development Company's latest plan was promised after the hearing was delayed two weeks ago to afford the San Diego Unified School District an opportunity to study the proposal.

Developers plan a development wholly within the San Diego District, but the proposal has been eyed by the Lemon Grove School District as a "foot in the door" tactic to achieve eventual development of acreage in the local district without aid to local schools.

Representatives of the school district have indicated that they will be on hand at the hearing, and a contingent of 40-50 residents of the area are also expected to attend the hearing to protest the plan.

Population Projection Of 30,000 Set By Lemon Grove Planners

The Lemon Grove Planning Association met last Thursday evening and solved a lingering problem, according to executive committee chairman Jim Dorman.

Dorman said that the association has had problems with the voting membership because the voting rolls contain the names of many persons who don't regularly attend meetings. With so many on the voting rolls, the association has had trouble achieving a quorum and therefore passing resolutions.

When the association was first formed, those who attended and indicated their willingness to participate by joining the executive committee were allowed to vote on motions by the committee.

After a few meetings, it became evident that fewer people were showing up at meetings than were on the rolls, so a resolution was adopted making it necessary for those who wished to remain on the voting rolls to attend three out of five consecutive meetings.

The resolution, however, was not made retroactive, so it did not affect those who had originally signed up, and voting status by those persons was retained, although many rarely attended meetings.

As time passed and more new members joined and more old members began missing meetings, the voting rolls swelled, although attendance remained about the same, bringing about a problem achieving a quorum.

At last week's meeting, the resolution was made retroactive and automatic, so that the voting rolls could be cleared of "dead weight", Dorman said. With the problem solved, the meeting moved on to the business of setting a population projection figure for the next twenty years.

It was decided that the population figure of 30,000 was the most realistic, as there is not enough available land to supply parks, schools, fire, and police protection for a population of any more than the 30,000 figure.

The present population of the Lemon Grove planning area is 26,000, but present acreage of parks and services is far below the county average for the population, said Dorman.

Because of the great amount of time spent discussing by-laws, the meeting was unable to get to the discussion and revision of tentative goals from subcommittees.

When the goals are revised, they will be presented to the general membership of the association for approval. Target date for the approval of the goals has been set for March 13.

The next meeting of the executive committee will be Feb. 24 at 3 p.m. in the Golden Avenue School auditorium. The public is invited.

Drug Series Continues

Grossmont Hospital and Grossmont College will continue their Public Forum Series dealing with the "Drug Scene Today," at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Grossmont Hospital Auditorium, when Norbert Ehrenfreund, chief trial attorney for Defenders, Inc., speaks on "Legalistics vs. Humanistics," as they pertain to drug abuse.

Bill Spencer, director of Corporate Communications for Information Machines Corporation, Santee, and a member of "yanon for the past four years, will moderate a panel of former addicts as they discuss the dynamics of rehabilitation.

"I hope and pray some people, especially the young, will benefit from what I have written," he said, "but when one man in two, over the age of 45, dies from heart attacks, even a layman may have ideas worth considering."

Ross did the research on his book while convalescing and became convinced that heart attacks need not happen.

Five Juveniles Arrested In Robbery Case

Five Spring Valley juveniles ranging in age from 13-14 years, were arrested last week on charges of strong-armed robbery in connection with money stolen from a 15-year old at the intersection of Elkton and Garwood in South Spring Valley.

Reports from the Sheriff's Department indicated that the victim in the case was enroute to the U-Tote-M store on Elkton Blvd. when he and a younger brother were surrounded by the suspects. The suspects took three dollars out of the victim's wallet, reports said, and ran in the direction of the store.

The victim returned to his home, a short distance away, and reported the crime to the Sheriff's Department. Deputies arrived a few minutes later and apprehended the juveniles near the store, each with candy bars and money.

One of the suspects in the case, after a routine search for weapons, was arrested on the additional charge of possession of marijuana when a small amount of the illegal weed was found in one of his pockets.

CROP MEASURES UP — Four inches high and rising is the first oat hay crop planted on Rancho San Diego land by members of the El Cajon Valley High School Chapter of Future Farmers of America. The members were given interim use of 230 acres of the 6,000 acre new town development to practice the farming skills developed as members of the national organization. Harvest is predicted for May or June if the rain continues to aid the December-sown crop.

Oat Hay Crop At Rancho San Diego Looking Good

The first Future Farmers of America oat hay crop at Rancho San Diego is showing signs of being a success.

The dry farming project was put into action by the members of the El Cajon Valley High School FFA chapter over a month ago. According to Agricultural instructor Glen Casey, "the seedlings are up about four inches at present and we estimate a total growth of one foot by the end of February."

The project is the only one of its kind in San Diego County. Members of the Chapter were given interim use of 230 acres of the 6,000 acre "new town" development of Rancho San Diego now under construction in Spring Valley.

Nine students are participating in two projects on the Rancho which include the oat hay crop and working with an existing Orange orchard. Both projects are part of the learning experiences involved in belonging to the nationally affiliated youth organization.

Leonard Grayson, Executive Vice President and Chief Executive Officer of the Rancho said, "We were happy to allow the students to utilize the land for this learning situation. They have informed us that the harvest will be sometime in May or June. If the crop continues to maintain its present rate of growth the young people will have a project to be proud of."

The acreage has been divided and designated as belonging to each of the students participating in the projects. Profit gained from the crop will be realized by the students directly. "Many of the students will re-invest in materials for future projects," said Casey. "In the case of many of our seniors, the money will go towards furthering their higher education."

Two days later, murder charges were filed and the defendant was arraigned in superior court Sept. 8. A change in the judicial process was instigated by the prosecution and a Grand Jury indictment was sought and secured September 21. On September 23, the defendant pleaded not guilty at her arraignment in superior court.

After delays in the scheduled trial, the defendant pleaded guilty to the reduced charge last week. A sentencing date of March 27 has been set for the mother of four, with sentencing of up to 15 years in prison possible.

In last week's court proceedings, Judge Robert Myers, of Maricopa County Superior Court, dismissed the indictment against Kahan and Jerry J. Bordeaux, of El Cajon, driver of the suspect vehicle, on a motion of the state.

During the hearing, Maricopa Detective Robert Malone,

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

"Dedos" means "fingers." Surprisingly enough "dedos" is also used to describe "toes" as well. Therefore, when we say "dedos" in Spanish, we must include additional words to clarify where the "dedos" are located. For example, we may say "dedos de la mano" for "fingers of the hand" and "dedos de los pies" for "fingers of the feet" which we would translate more correctly "toes of the feet" or simply "toes."

"Son mis dedos" is the way to say "They are my fingers." We may count the "dedos" by saying "uno, dos, tres, cuatro, cinco, seis, siete, ocho, nueve, diez." If we wish to identify our toes we might point to them and say "Son los dedos de mis pies." For "They are the toes on my feet."

"Dedo gordo" literally means "fat finger." We have a more specific name for "dedo gordo" when we call it "thumb." In Spanish, however, it is a fat finger. When we talk about it we may say expressions like "Me duele el dedo gordo." (My thumb hurts.) "Me corte el dedo gordo." (I cut my thumb.) and "El toca la guitarra con el dedo gordo." (He plays the guitar with his thumb.)

"Una," pronounced "OOH-nah" means nail. More specifically it means "finger nail." We may use this in phrases like "Voy a cortar las unas." (I am going to cut my finger nails.) "Ella tiene unas muy largas." (She has very long nails.) and "Muchos animales tienen unas para rascar." (Many animals have nails for scratching.)

"Cruzar los dedos" means "to cross the fingers." For example, we may say "Voy a cruzar los dedos." (I am going to cross my fingers.) "Ella no puede cruzar los dedos." (She can't cross her fingers.) and "El va a cruzar los dedos." (He is going to cross his fingers.)

In English we might associate "crossing the fingers" with "telling little white lies." This is not so in Spanish. When someone crosses their fingers in the Spanish speaking culture it is done to suggest or wish someone good fortune or success. So if you want to wish your Spanish-speaking friends the very best, hold up your crossed fingers and say "buena suerte" for "good luck."

There are six interesting phrases listed below which may be learned with the aid of a native voice that says them for you when you dial 276-2762 on your telephone.

Say "Cuantos dedos tiene usted?" (koo-AHN-tohs DEH-dohs tee-EH-neh oo-STEHD) for "How many fingers do you have?"

Say "Yo tengo diez." (yoh TEHN-goh dee-EHS)

for "I have ten."

Say "Le duele el dedo gordo?" (leh doo-EH-leh ehl DED-thoh GOHR-doh)

for "Does your thumb hurt?"

Say "Me duele el dedo gordo del pie." (me doo-EH-leh ehl DED-thoh GOHR-doh dehl pee-EH)

for "My big toe hurts."

Say "Va a cruzar los dedos usted?" (vah ah kroo-SAH-loh DEH-thohs oo-STEHD)

for "Are you going to cross your fingers?"

Say "Le deseo mucha suerte." (leh deh-SEH-oh MOO-chah soo-EHR-teh)

for "I wish you much luck."

SD Bar Group

35 Athletes To Report For Padres Training Stint

Manager Preston Gomez and his staff will welcome a squad of 35 along with a handful of non-roster players when the Padres open their fourth spring training Friday of next week in Yuma, Arizona.

Although Gomez now has more of a line on his Opening Day lineup than in previous springs, there still figures to be even greater competition at Yuma than ever before.

There are half a dozen strong candidates for two or three spots in the starting rotation, no one has a lock on the catching position, third base is wide open and a couple outfield spots are up for grabs.

"But we have several talented people competing for all these jobs," Gomez points out.

The Padres will hustle over a manicured 25-acre four-diamond complex at Yuma, pointing for their fourth National League season that opens at San Francisco April 6 and in San Diego Stadium against Atlanta on April 14.

Many of the players will report in near-perfect shape, having tuned up under the watchful eyes of coaches Roger Craig, Bob Skinner and Dave Garcia during three weeks of pre-spring training drills in San Diego.

The first baseball club to undertake such drills in their home park, the Padres figured the program would accelerate the development through personalized instruction of young players and would enable the club to realize a more successful record early in the schedule.

"We want to get off fast this season," Gomez said. "It's important that we do and our players realize this."

The Padres were 5-16 last April, winning only once at home during the month. Gomez wants to turn that record around this April.

"That's what we're pointing for," the four-year pilot of the Padres said.

There will be a dozen Padres making their first trip to Yuma with the varsity.

They are pitchers Ed Acosta, Mike Caldwell, Darcy Fast, Jay Franklin, Bill Greif and Fred Norman. Catcher Mike Ivie, infielders Garry Jestadt and Derrel Thomas and outfielders Leron Lee, John Jeter and Randy Elliott complete the list.

Much attention will be directed to Thomas and Jeter, the former the leading candidate to play second and the latter the choice to be the Padre center fielder.

The competition for the starting role at third base figures to be stiff among Dave Campbell, Jestadt and Ed Spiezio. And, of course, the battle among Tom Phoebus, Dick Kelley, Mike Corkins, Fred Norman, Acosta and Greif for a starting role in the pitching staff figures to continue the entire spring.

It should be a dandy spring training, hopefully leading to a dandy 1972 season.

A large stage show will be presented several times each day during the exposition. Five internationally known acts will be featured.

FROM MAYBERRY — Arlene Golonka, who is most famous for her three years co-starring in the television series "Mayberry RFD", is currently playing Honey, the young professor's wife in the stage play "Who's afraid of Virginia Woolf" at the Off Broadway Theatre. Also starring in the production is Carl Betz.

The choir has also received its new red and black robes, which were chosen after consideration by a committee made up of parents and director, Robert Boucher.

The new robes should be a dramatic improvement over the thirteen-year-old blue robes, which have been sold to local groups.

'Light Up The Sky' Is Old Globe Play

The secrets of backstage life in the theatre creates fascination for the public. "Light Up The Sky", the newest Old Globe Theatre comedy production, reveals the glamorous personalities and explosive emotions of the major participants as a Broadway play is prepared.

Guest director William Roach has set the action of "Light Up The Sky" in the late 1940's when the comedy was originally written by Moss Hart. Performances are scheduled through March 19 nightly except Monday.

Action during "Light Up The Sky" takes place in a luxurious Boston hotel suite, temporary residence of a famed female stage star. It is the opening night of the out-of-town tryout for a Broadway-bound drama.

Major participants in the stage production assemble to celebrate the first performance. Conviviality turns to acrimony after the characters return to the hotel following a calamitous opening night performance. The comedy revolves around the unique personalities as their schemes, ambitions, frustrations, and jealousies are revealed when a major theatrical "flop" appears imminent.

Enlisted military personnel may purchase tickets for $1.50 for all performances except Saturday evening. This is a 40% reduction from the regular ticket price.

Interest Rate Cut by BoA

Bank of America has announced a reduction of its interest rates for most categories of consumer loans.

The reduction, effective immediately, is 1/2 of 1 per cent. It is the latest in a series of selective consumer interest rate reductions made by Bank of America over the past 18 months. These include rates for home improvement loans, automobile dealer financing, professional term loans, auto lease financing, accounts receivable, indirect collection and personal, loans obtained through BankAmericard.

During the past year and a half, the interest rate reductions in these categories have averaged between 1 per cent and 1 1/2 per cent simple interest.

DISTRICT 1—John Nagy, editor of the California Homeowners Assn. announced this week he will seek the job of supervisor of District 1. The District's present supervisor is Jack Walsh.

Nagy, who lives in Chula Vista, said Wednesday that Lemon Grove and Spring Valley may eventually be redistricted to District 1 after the courts decide where district boundaries are to be.

He is a real estate appraiser and has been critical of property assessment practices for years. He said the Watson Amendment is a cruel hoax on taxpayers arguing that homeowners who cannot afford more property taxes would be willing to pay more sales, income, gasoline, cigarette and other taxes.

NEAR PIN — Mt. Miguel senior wrestler Jim Minor puts the pressure on Helix grappler Paul Weatherbee, but Minor's adversary managed to keep his shoulders off the mats enough to avoid the pin. Minor still got the victory in the 98-lb. class, but Helix had the last laugh, winning the match 36-16 over the defending CIF Champion Matadors. (Lorelei Wilhite photo)

Grossmont Wrestlers End Dual Match Season; Loop Meet Next

The Grossmont League wrestling season is over — at least for dual meet fans, who witnessed an undefeated season for Monte Vista and last week's upset of Mt. Miguel by an inspired Helix mat crew.

But for the post season fan, the action is just getting underway, as Saturday will bring the Grossmont League meet at Helix High School, to be followed by the CIF semi-finals February 25 and the CIF finals February 26, both at Palomar Junior College.

In last week's Grossmont League action, Monte Vista blistered El Cajon, 31-15, Helix shocked Mt. Miguel, 36-16, Santana knocked off Granite Hills, 33-21, and Grossmont got by El Capitan, 39-17.

Monte Vista, facing somewhat of a challenge from El Cajon, picked up two quick decisions and a pin in the first three bouts to set the stage for the remainder of the evening's action. After a loss in the next bout, the Monarchs picked up four more decisions to make the score ridiculous.

In the Helix-Mt. Miguel affair, Mt. Miguel opened with a pair of decisions, including a near-pin by Jim Minor. Helix countered with a pin and decision to take the lead. Another pair of Mt. Miguel wins put the Matadors out front again, but the Highlanders won six of the last seven bouts to complete the shocker.

Santana used a pair of pins to good advantage in dealing with Granite Hills, while Grossmont raced away to an unsurmountable advantage over El Capitan after three matches.

Final standings for the year left Monte Vista on top with a 7-0 mark, Mt. Miguel second at 5-2, Helix and El Cajon tied for third with 4-3 records, Santana and Granite Hills tied for fifth with 3-4 marks, Grossmont seventh at 2-7, and El Capitan in the cellar with a 0-7 record.

In Saturday's league competition, wrestlers to watch include Terry Drew, of Grossmont, in the 98-lb. class, Miguel Cesena, of Mt. Miguel, in the 123-lb. bout, Robbie Hudson and Matt Taylor, both of Monte Vista in the 136-lb. and 148-lb. classes, Dan Fluery, of Monte Vista, in the 168-lb. division, and Dennis Johnson, of Helix, in the Heavyweight bout.

Harness Racers To Fight Cancer

DEL MAR — Harness horses will run again the race against cancer here at 1 p.m. March 5.

Some of the nation's top harness racers will compete in the annual Harness Racing Matinee at the Del Mar race track sponsored by the Del Mar and Solana Beach Chambers of Commerce.

Proceeds will go to the American Cancer Society for equipment and research. The program will be staged in cooperation with Sigma Delta Chi, the national journalism society.

There will be no wagering. Donations will be accepted by the cancer society. Admission is free.

Ernie Meyers, fast talking KOGO disc jockey, will call the six-race event and present trophies to the winners.

Refreshments will be sold and restrooms will be available.

TOP QUALIFIER — Joe Stubbs, Mt. Miguel's top distance runner, is shown as he takes the finish ribbon in qualifying for Saturday's San Diego Indoor Games high school division. Stubbs, who ran under 9:30 for the first time in his running career, will probably have to run near 9:20 to win the race. Other local athletes who will be involved in the competition will be Bob Morrison and Gary Trask in the 1000-yard run, and Norm Jimenez in the pole vault, all teammates of Stubbs. ## Winless Monte Vista Loses To Mount Miguel, El Cajon Braves

Mt. Miguel High School, led by standout forward Mark Dobransky, handed the Monte Vista Monarchs their 11th loss in as many league games last Tuesday afternoon in the Mt. Miguel gym.

Dobransky, a 6-5 junior, hit nine field goals and four of 11 charity tosses for 22 tallies on the evening as he led his Matador teammates to a 60-53 conquest of the winless Monarchs. The only other Matador to hit double figures was center Steve Ayers, who canned 11 points.

As the game opened, Mt. Miguel raced away to the advantage, and held a seven point lead, 16-9, as the second quarter got underway. In the second period, Monte Vista came back with fierce play from forwards Carl Zemlick and Rich Baker to knot the score. Mt. Miguel got three quick buckets as the halftime intermission drew near, however, to take a 30-24 advantage into the locker rooms.

The third period was tight, as both teams had problems. Mt. Miguel couldn't buy a rebound, but Monte Vista was plagued by missed shots and the quarter ended with Mt. Miguel still on top, 46-39 as the final frame began.

In the quarter, Monte Vista put together a rally that saw the Matador advantage close to a slim two points midway through the period, but Mt. Miguel reserve center Terry Klusman came through with a pair of jump shots, senior guard Mike Bruner canned a break-away lay-in, and Brent Brown hit on a pair of free throws to ice the victory for the Miguelers.

Mt. Miguel won the game on solid shooting, as the Matadors hit 44% of their shots from the floor, while Monte Vista shot an anemic 29%, despite holding the rebounding edge, 46-40.

On Thursday night, both teams saw action on their home courts and both teams added another mark in the loss column.

At Monte Vista, the El Cajon Braves won their third game of the year over the Monarchs, although the home team made it into one of the year's most exciting contests. The Braves hit the warpath early, gaining a three-point advantage after the game's first eight minutes. The second quarter was filled with action as the Monarchy came back to tie the score and take a two-point halftime lead, 25-23.

In the third period, Monte Vista appeared to be on the verge of breaking the game open, as the local team drew

World Ranked Long-Jumper In Arena Contest Saturday

World ranked long jumper Hans Baumgartner of West Germany and top American shot put and discus man Ed Kohler, have been added to their respective events for this Saturday's San Diego Indoor Games. The games will be at the Sports Arena.

Baumgartner, ranked third in the world last year, will come in fresh from a win (25-11½) in Friday night's Los Angeles Times meet.

The West German, unlike a lot of competitors, was better indoors than outdoors last season, at least in comparing marks. He had a best of 26-5 outdoors, but had a world-leading 26-7¼ on the indoor circuit.

Representing the SC Striders, Kohler comes in with a lot of experience. He owns a best shot put effort of 63-2 and recorded a best of 60-6 a year ago.

Actually, Kohler is more noted for his discus performances as he was eighth in last year's AAU meet (190-8) and had a season best of 207-9.

Baumgartner will be joining a long jump field which includes world outdoor and indoor record holder Bob Beamon, Arnie Robinson (U. S. Army), Boiny Moore (Oregon), Henry Hines and Randy Williams (USC) and Stan Whitley (California International Track Club).

Kohler completes the shot put field which includes Russians Valeriy Volkin and Rikmantas Plunge, Karl Salb and Steve Wilhelm (Mid-America Track Club), Jesse Stuart (Western Kentucky), Pete Schmuck (Oregon), Doug Lane (USC) and Greg Born (San Jose State).

Tickets are $4, $5 and $6 for afternoon and evening events or $2.50 for afternoon only. Afternoon competition starts at noon; evening games at 6:16 p.m.

Dinner Open to Fans

Spring training is around the corner, and the annual Baseball Writers' dinner is just over the next hill.

Acting accordingly, Jack Murphy, president of the San Diego Chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, announced that the fourth annual affair honoring the San Diego Padres, would be held Tuesday evening, April 4, at 7:30 in the Convention Center, Town and Country Hotel. He said that fans, as in the past, may attend.

An all-star cast of baseball celebrities and entertainers matching the caliber of last year's attraction is being lined up again, said Murphy, and tickets, at the customary $20 each or in blocks of 10, will be available by enclosing a check to P.O. Box 6461, San Diego, 92106.

The Padres, who begin spring training at Yuma, Ariz., next week, will open the season in San Francisco April 6, but they will be on hand at the dinner, where awards for 1971 excellence will be presented.

Manager Preston Gomez and his coaching staff and the new broadcasting crew of Jerry Coleman and Bob Chandler will also be on hand.

Gulls-Eagles Game Opens Home Stand

The San Diego Gulls open a long homestand tomorrow night when they take on the Salt Lake Golden Eagles at the Sports Arena. Gametime is 8 p.m.

The Gulls finished off a stretch of road games this week, playing in Seattle on Tuesday night and Portland last night and will now be at home for the better part of six weeks.

San Diego will play nine of its next 12, and 13 of its next 19 games on home ice. The Gulls will be out to improve upon the 12-6-4 record that they have run up through their first 22 home dates.

Following the Eagles into the Sports Arena will be the Portland Buckaroos, who along with Salt Lake are battling the Gulls for third place in the Western League race. The Bucks will visit the Sports Arena Wednesday night.

Oct. 5 Redistricting To Stand For Election

(Continued from Page 1) same 3-2 vote, appealed the decision and kept the redistricting they approved Oct. 5. Ruffin then petitioned to the Court of Appeals to reject the supervisors' appeal until the case was heard.

The Court of Appeals rejected Ruffin's petition. The decision puts Lemon Grove and Spring Valley in Henry Boney's Second District for the June 6 election.
